Heated Hearing Held On Old Oil Derrick

A hearing held in connection with condemnation proceedings directed against an old oil derrick located near the Fern Avenue school which has been cited as a menacing hazard to school children playing in the vicinity, became the high spot of the council meeting Tuesday night. At times the airing of the matter became considerably heated as reports were given the council that the rig was dangerous and counter-statements from the owner of the derrick denied this allegation.

The result of the hearing was a postponement of action for two weeks on the verbal agreement, to be put in writing, of George M. Brown, president of the Bald Eagle Oil Company, owner of the rig, that it will be strengthened at once and a watchman placed on duty 24 hours a day. Brown attempted to get a 90-day extension of time to do the work and drill for deeper sands. He stated that he expected to start drilling in a few weeks.
